ISAAC DEITZ

PROFILE:

When someone gives me a challenge, I can overcome it, but I am also able to demonstrate to others how I did. I explain things and get my point across very well. I can direct as well as be directed. I am well known for using whatever is available to make what is needed. I continue to keep people interested with film, public speaking, photography, drawing, stand-up comedy, as well as television commercials.

FEATURE FILMS:

- 2007 2nd Assistant Director, Silk Trees [fiction, thriller]
I ensured that all the actors were ready for filming when they were needed, which including checking up on make-up and wardrobe timetables. I also was '1st Assistant Director' while the original 1st Assistant Director went on a temporary leave. In addition, I helped with camera for the behind-the-scenes footage and also script supervised [while the original script supervisor was acting as an extra].
- 2005 Camera Operator, Swallow Your Pride [documentary on competitive eating]
I was in charge of one of the several cameras filming the event that the film leads up to, The Wingbowl. I interviewed fans outside the stadium and also have some milestone stadium establishing shots in the film.

FREELANCE EMPLOYMENT:

- 2008 Editor, Comcast
I updated/re-edited a year old spot for a Comcast promotional spot.
- 2007 Production Assistant, ESPN/Wendy's Advertising Inc.
My job was to load/unload, set-up, assisting the camera operator, and had the talents/subjects fill-out release forms. This was a traveling job that was shot for the Wendy's High-school Heismen Award Show on ESPN.
- 2007 Commercial Producer, The Sound Garden
I made eight commercials* for the record store, The Sound Garden, for two separate locations, four of the commercials were filmed in Baltimore, MD and the other four filmed in Syracuse, NY. I was responsible for concept, camera, editing, directing and was the main subject in one of the eight.
- *1st Place winner of the W.E.A. [Warner, Electra, Atlantic] catalog commercial campaign
- 2006 Camera operator, Time Warner
I loaded, set-up and operated one of the four cameras that shot the Lemoyne Graduation Commencement.
